SF Ballet creates mesmerizing dance 'chain letter' from home

While the San Francisco Ballet's home in the War Memorial Opera House next to City Hall on Van Ness Avenue has closed its doors, the dancers are still sharing their craft.

In a wonderful example of the coronavirus shutdown pushing creative types to broaden their canvas, on Tuesday 10 danseurs and danseuses from the company performed a linked dance from their homes and nearby streets and parks. Each dancer's final pose is expertly continued by the subsequent participant.

...the head, glasses is not reg. ap. The solution is to wear the mask higher and put eye glasses over the top of the mask.

Five "official "COVID-19 guidelines:

- 1. Basically, you can't leave the house for any reason, but if you have to, then you can.
- 2. Masks are useless, unless you're a health care worker, in which case they save you, but you still need to wear them to the grocery store, but it depends on which state or county you live in, because in some places masks apparently work better than in other geographic areas.
- 3. Stores are closed, except those that are open.
- 4. You should not go to hospitals unless you have to go there. Same applies to doctors. Only go to the doctor in case of emergency, provided you are not too sick.
- 5. This virus is deadly but still not too scary, except that sometimes it actually leads to a global disaster.

FOR YOUR BODY

If you have more energy and vitality than you know what to do with, feel free to skip this program, but if you're looking for an online energy-boosting program, this program works. The exercises are fun and invigorating and are taught by a dear friend, and an upbeat and very! knowledgeable woman.

She's offering a free 5-day challenge to help people with their energy and mood during this crazy time. Especially while we're all stuck at home, this is kind of a no-brainer to try.
