Clare Schneider/NPR

All of us are working through some degree of frustration, loneliness, or cabin fever right now, and a lot of folks are dealing with things a lot harder than that — the loss of a job, or a loved one. We spoke with Rachel Wilkerson Miller about the best way to show up for friends in difficult times.

Here's the thing — you don't need to anticipate the perfect way to support your friend. Ask them what they need! Maybe they need someone to vent to. Or they could be looking for advice on their problem. Whatever their needs, Rachel says, "You can't properly show up for other people if you don't really know who you are, what your needs are, and what your boundaries are." In a second episode with Rachel Wilkerson Miller, she walked us through the importance of showing up for yourself as a first step in the process of showing up for others. Be your own best friend first!

So while we stay socially distant, pay some TLC to your friendships. And then start planning the first group hang after this is all over!

Paris is one of the most visited cities in the world — and with good reason. With picnics under the Eiffel Tower and romantic strolls down the Champs-Élysées, few places compare to the City of Lights. But France is so much more than Paris. So, why not venture out to explore cities with romantic vineyards,

Born in 1938 in Ottawa, Canada and having "wiling away the hours as an usher at a local movie theater," it's no wonder Rich Little became known for impersonations of star such as James Stewart, Dean Martin, Truman Capote, and George Burns. Little says that his "career" started at the age of 12 when he answered back to his teachers in their own voices. In the late 60s, he was dubbed "the best impressionist in the world" and in the 70s he made countless TV appearances, especially on The Tonight Show w/Johnny Carson or The Dean Martin Celebrity Roast, often paying tribute to the honoree in his/her own voice.

Made in the Marinship. Once again, the Marinship has free hand sanitizer available. If you have run out, you are welcome to come by for a refill. The Marinship Emergency Medical Manufacturing Group (MEMM) and the Sausalito Working Waterfront Coalition will be giving away the hand sanitizer to local residents on Wednesday, May 27 from 9:00 a.m. to noon at 170 Gate 5 Road. This is the location of WaveAdvance, LLC, where CEO Gary Testa ensured that the hand sanitizer was mixed in accordance with U.S. Pharmacopoeia standards. Each person who stops by with their own small bottle (with cap) can receive up to 6 ounces.

MEMM will be completing the production of face shields in the next week or so. Approximately 15,000 face shields have been fabricated and distributed to hospitals, first responders, and local businesses.
