The best films for Christmas 2020

Though most aren't showing in cinemas, a handful of streaming releases try to make the season bright.

This time last year, the most pressing question in the film world was: "Exactly how bad is Cats?" Whereas now my response might be: "Cats? In a cinema?"

of these films has the stink of the litter tray about it. (Clue: it features James Corden, who also starred in... Cats. The man's a jinx.)

To brighten the lives of residents, the City of Sausalito and local business and community organizations have partnered to present a special holiday display at Viña del Mar Plaza in downtown Sausalito. The display features a 16-foot Christmas tree, a Hanukkah menorah, Kwanzaa greetings, and decorations on the plaza fountain.

The Christmas tree was donated by Councilmember Ian Sobieski, who was able to procure the tree with the help of Christopher Holbrook of the Sausalito Farms Christmas tree lot at the foot of Locust Street. City staff from the public works and parks and recreation departments helped to install the tree in its plaza location, and members of the City's Economic Development Advisory Committee did the decorating. Donations from community members provided the lights and ornaments.

The plaza fountain was decorated by volunteers from the Sausalito Woman's Club, for whom this is an annual event. The decorating team was led by Wera Musaus and Charlotte Mastrangelo, who also help maintain the rose garden at Gabrielson Park.

Sausalito's business community is also holding a limited number of special holiday events, with protecting the public health as the highest priority. Please make an extra effort to patronize Sausalito's shops and restaurants during this holiday season, as many local businesses are at risk.

Events include the Sausalito Gingerbread House Tour that began on December 1 and continues during the entire month of December. Fourteen Sausalito businesses are participating in the 2020 tour, which is presented by the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce.

atmosphere for curbside pickup from restaurants and occupancy-limited shopping at retail shops. Come down between 5:30 and 7:00 p.m. to pick up your take-out dinner and do some last-minute shopping. Stores will be offering discounts on some of their merchandise. Santa and his elves will also be on hand to spread good cheer from a safe distance.
