The poster features a large, stylized profile of a human head in white outline on a yellow background. Inside the head, there are several overlapping circles in shades of yellow and orange. At the bottom of the poster, there are four circular icons: a blue heart, a yellow hand, a brown hand, and a red laurel wreath.

Chefs from all four corners of the globe share some of their beloved Holiday desserts, along with some recipes.

Mourning and celebrating; coping and distancing: 2020 has been a year of collective emotional dissonance. Even as the worst public health crisis in memory changed our lives, it also made us cherish bright moments where we found them.

Here are the NPR stories that hit home in 2020. They examine the complicated reality of life during a pandemic. They highlight moments of grace, surprise and persistence — and sometimes, stark disagreement.
